WORKSHOPS & WEBINARS

We envision a future where every student has access to high-quality educational, life, and career readiness resources and opportunities necessary to feel prepared, confident, and empowered to use their unique voice and skills to help create a more diverse and equitable world. That's why Black Girl College Prep offers carefully curated workshops and webinars designed to inspire, educate, and empower learners and families to navigate the college and career preparation process.

From choosing the right school to securing scholarships, we are here to guide you every step of the way. Whether you're looking to expose middle school learners to the college readiness process or are a parent needing help supporting your learner, Black Girl College Prep is your partner in a caring and collaborative learning experience.

COLLEGE & CAREER READY: (MIDDLE SCHOOL)

Don't wait until high school to start preparing for college and career success. Our middle school college and career prep program offers comprehensive support and resources to help your child set and achieve their goals. Our experienced mentors will guide them through goal setting, career exploration, and college planning, giving them a head start in building an impressive resume and paving the way for a bright future.

COLLEGE & CAREER READY: (HIGH SCHOOL)

Comprehensive assistance, resources, and step-by-step guidance through college and career explorations, as well as the college admissions process, providing insight, methods, and skills to help students flourish beyond high school.

Duration: 90min

Objective:

By the end of this workshop, students will be able to identify 2-3 career pathways and college majors that best fit their skills and passions. Students will leave with personalized objectives and workable plans for achieving them. Depending on the grade level, learners will leave prepared to begin the college admissions process.

COLLEGE ISN'T FOR ME: COLLEGE ALTERNATIVES

We understand that college isn't for everyone, which is why we offer a comprehensive college prep service that explores all options. Our experienced team works to expose learners and families to college alternatives aligned with personalized goals and values. Whether you're interested in a technical trade, the military, or an apprenticeship, we're here to support you every step of the way toward a fulfilling career.

Duration: 90min

Objective:

By the end of this workshop, the student will be able to differentiate between trade schools, entrepreneurship, vocational training, and certification options. Learners will gain a comprehensive understanding of each as an alternative pathway to success beyond traditional four-year colleges.

PARENT PARTNERSHIP: EMPOWERING YOUR STUDENT FOR LIFE BEYOND HIGH SCHOOL

Our parent partnership workshop is designed to cultivate nurturing collaborations between parents and children, thereby enhancing parents' understanding of the college and career process, increasing their confidence, and equipping them to assist children in developing personalized pathways to pursue higher education and job opportunities.

Duration: 90min

Objective:

By the end of this workshop, parents, guardians, and caretakers will have acquired useful skills for developing better connections, more productive partnerships, and healthier communication with their students. These tools will include communication tactics, time management techniques, and ways to organize class work. Participants will establish a routine that actively promotes their learner's academic achievement and smooth transition from high school to the next stage of their lives, whether college, vocational training, or the workforce.

I AM A BLACK WOMAN: CULTURAL IDENTITY, SELF-ESTEEM, AND CONFIDENCE

Black Girl College Prep offers a holistic approach to education by focusing on developing a student's self-esteem, body image, and confidence. In a society and culture that often paints and perpetuates inaccurate narratives about Black women, we believe it's important for our learners to have a strong sense and understanding of their identities and who they were created to be. This understanding breeds confidence and security and bridges the gaps for better academic success. This workshop is designed to help students explore their potential, discover their strengths, affirm their greatness, love themselves, and identify/work on areas that need improvement.

Duration: 90min

Objective:

By the end of this workshop, learners will be able to distinguish between tangible and intangible character qualities, comprehend the value of confidence, and acquire and discover their unique talents and potential. Students will leave knowing what kind of woman they want to be while learning about Black cultural identities and how to leverage and embrace the diversity they provide.

BGCP SIGNATURE WORKSHOP: LEGACY, LEARNING, AND LEADERSHIP

Black Girl College Prep is dedicated to building legacy-minded leaders. This workshop helps students develop academic, social, and interpersonal skills that will help them become stronger leaders within their spheres of influence. We cover strategic decision-making, effective communication, and visionary leadership to elevate students' leadership capabilities while encouraging them to be mindful of their legacy and pave the way for future generations.

Duration: 90min

Objective:

By the end of this workshop, students will be able to describe the attributes of leadership and the importance of a legacy. They'll gain the skills needed to solve problems, manage conflicts, show empathy, be inquisitive, and communicate. Learners will walk away with a plan of action that empowers them to demonstrate leadership in their schools and communities.

PERSONAL GROWTH: BE THE INSPIRED YOU

Black Girl College Prep offers a holistic approach to education by focusing on the development of a student's personal development as well as academic success. In this workshop, learners will embark on a journey of self-discovery and personal growth through exploring topics like mindfulness, goal setting, and emotional intelligence that empower them to navigate life's challenges with resilience and purpose.

Duration: 90min

Objective:

By the end of this workshop, students will leave with a better understanding of what emotional intelligence entails and useful skills and information for personal development and self-discovery. They'll gain the skills to create SMART objectives, recognize and apply resilience, and control their emotions. Students will walk away with a plan of action for self-regulation and thoughtful decision-making.

BGCP SIGNATURE ON-DEMAND COURSE

The college admissions process can be overwhelming for students and parents, especially in many Black communities. If the student attends a low-income school, they will likely have limited access to high-quality resources, extracurricular activities, academic assistance, and in-school support. There is sooo much to keep up with: a never-ending to-do list, applications, deadlines, fees, and essays. But what if I told you there was a way to make this process go more smoothly while empowering your teen to take more responsibility and actively participate in it? Would you be interested?

Look no further—the all-inclusive College & Career Readiness (self-guided) Course from Black Girl College Prep is now available! The BGCP eight-module course was specifically designed to cater to the needs of Black girls, equipping them with the knowledge necessary to successfully navigate the transition from high school to the next chapter of their lives.

Video content is delivered via animations and in bite-sized chunks to captivate your learner's attention. It consists of eight downloadable, high-quality interactive workbooks packed with information, activities, and journal prompts to accompany lesson plans. This course covers EVERYthing from identity, confidence, and self-esteem to goal setting, college applications, financial literacy, college funding, essay writing, and college alternatives.

By the end of this course, learners will leave with a thorough understanding of the college admissions process, the components associated with it, and how to get organized and apply. They'll gain skills to properly format and write applications and essays, set SMART objectives, and research college information while proactively organizing findings. Students will walk away with a plan of action for thoughtful college and career decision-making.

Take some pressure off of completing the admissions process on your own, enroll today, and position your student for future success.

THE FRESHMAN ONBOARDING RETREAT

For first-generation and underprepared students in particular, the transition to college can be extremely challenging, but our freshman onboarding retreat can help.

Using the SEL (social and emotional learning) framework, our freshman onboarding offering assists in guiding, supporting, and advocating for college freshmen as they make the transition from high school to college.

We define SEL as the process by which teenagers and young adults learn, develop, and implement emotional intelligence to establish and maintain healthy relationships, positive identities, accomplishments, goals, and caring and responsible choices. Social-emotional learning is a fundamental aspect of both human development and education.

Our curriculum provides a holistic approach to college and life preparation, including social and emotional learning and activities to ensure that students thrive in their new environment.

We cover all social aspects of the college adaptation process and guide you through every step, from selecting the appropriate classes to campus safety, developing your personal skills, handling conflict, communicating, and settling in.

This service may be used in tandem with or in addition to current student assistance programs or during student orientations.

Our all-inclusive retreat offering and streamlined approach equip new learners with the knowledge, understanding, support, affirmation, and community they need to feel better equipped and ready to take on the difficulties of adjusting to college life.
